

To kill or not to kill?

By George Chelidakis

There was once a president of the U. S. A. called Bill. He had a wife called Emma and a son called Harry. On the other hand, there was Tom, the president's opponent, who had a daughter called Sophia. Unfortunately, her mother had died of cancer five years before. Anyway, Sophia fell in love with Harry.

One day, Tom secretly killed President Bill and got married to Emma. On the same night, President Bill's ghost appeared to Harry and let him know who had killed him. Harry got angry, went into President Tom's bedroom and kissed him. Suddenly, he saw his mother dead and he realised that Tom had killed her, too.

When Sophia heard that Harry had killed her father, she got mad and she kissed him. In the end, she couldn't live with so much guilt and she killed herself.