As Mr. Belt,
the Irish coordinator reported at the end...

- Most of these ideas had already been discussed in the preparatory meeting last February in Palma and we were all delighted that the European Commission approved our concept and that our National Agencies donated the money to make this programme possible. Still we had a lot of issues to resolve. The main coordinator of Spain, who had set up this project , got a job in another school and a fellow teacher had to take over. None of the Turkish teachers had been present at the first meeting and therefore they came over to speak with us about their ideas. Thus it was useful to come together to finalise the whole project for the next two years.
