

Music Unites Us

One way of teaching students to be tolerant and accepting of other cultures, is by teaching them about the different kinds of music around the world. We listened to songs around Europe and came to the conclusion that music is a common language among people. Pupils thought that music would be much more different but came to the realization that there are a lot of common sounds that we all share.

