

The house of Parliament

By Fotini Weisz, Raphailia Adele, Georgia Poppins

Have you ever visited the House of Parliament? If not, would you want to visit it? Today, we are going to interview Mr Brown, who is a British historian and the creator of a website providing historical and tourist information about the House of Parliament.

- Mr Brown, what is the House of Parliament?

- The House of Parliament is the supreme legislative body in the UK, and it's housed in the Palace of Westminster. It comprises two houses, the House of Commons and the House of Lords.

- Who is the head of state?

- The head of state is the Queen.

- Are there any elections held?

- Yes, every five years.

- Has the palace of Westminster housed the house of Parliament since it was built?

- No, it primarily served as the residence of the king.

- How can people access the House of Parliament?

- They can travel by either train or bus. They can also get to the House of Parliament by tube.

- What types of tours are available?

- Guided tours, audio tours, family tours and Big Ben tours.

- What is the admission for guided tours?

- Adults have to pay £25.50, students have to pay £21, children (ages up to 15) have to pay £11 and children (under 5) are admitted for free.

- What are the opening hours?

- The House of Parliament is open from Monday to Saturday.

- Thank you for the interview.

- You're welcome! Goodbye!