

19th CENTURY LONDON MADAME TUSSAUDS

ABOUT

Madame Tussauds is a wax museum in London and a major tourist attraction.

It was founded by wax sculptor Marie Tussaud in 1835. Marie Tussaud was taught the art of wax modelling at a very young age by Philippe Curtius, a Swiss physician and wax modeler for whom her mother worked.

One of the major attractions back in the 19th century was the 'Chamber of Horrors' including victims of the French Revolution and figures of murderers and criminals.

Nowadays, the waxworks of famous and historical figures, popular film and television characters as well as the royal family and presidents of other countries are displayed at the museum.

EXHIBITS

King Kong

- King Kong is a fictional giant monster resembling a gorilla who has appeared in various media since 1933.
- The Eighth Wonder of the World, a phrase commonly used within the films.
- His first appearance was in the novelization of the 1933 film “King Kong” from RKO Pictures, with the film premiering a little over two months later. Upon its initial release and subsequent re-releases, the film received universal acclaim.

Winston Churchill

Winston Churchill was the Prime Minister of the British Empire during the Second World War and during the early Cold War. His Presidencies lasted from 1940 to 1945 and 1951 to 1955. He also was a veteran of the Second Boer War and lead the Gallipoli Campaign during the First World War. While right-wing nationalism was rising in NaZi Germany, Churchill wanted to strengthen the Empire's military to avoid a conflict like the First World War. His first presidency was served because Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain resigned when France fell to the Nazis.

He was also known as a painter and a historian. He died on the 24th of January 1965.

Adolf Hitler

Adolf Hitler was an Austrian-born German politician who was the dictator of Germany from 1933 until his death in 1945.

Adolf Hitler was born on 20th April 1889. He was the fourth of six children.

In August 1934, Hitler was appointed as Minister of Economics, and, in the following year, as Plenipotentiary for War Economy in charge of preparing the economy for war. During a military conference on 22nd April 1944, Hitler asked about Steiner's offensive. He was told that the attack had not been launched and that the Soviets had entered Berlin. Hitler asked everyone to leave the room. He announced that he would stay in Berlin until the end and then shot himself.

James Bond

My favorite waxwork in Madame Tussauds museum is James Bond. He is a very famous film character who was created in 1953 by Ian Fleming. The films he's been in are 27 and they are some of the most well-known around the world.

He has black hair and black eyes. He's tall and a very risky character. He always keeps a gun and he never gives up. He uses a lot of strange but very useful for him gadgets. James Bond is always the winner and the leader of his team.

At first, he starred in comic books but the comics developed into movies.

Robert Pattinson

Robert Douglas Thomas Pattinson was born May 13, 1986, in London, England, to Richard Pattinson and Clare Pattinson. He grew up in Barnes with his two older sisters.

Robert discovered his love for music long before acting. He became a big cinephile for his love of auteur cinema in his early teens. His first screen role was a small part in Vanity Fair (2004), but he'd been cut out of the final film. The director felt guilty for that, so he got him an audition for a “Harry Potter” movie. In 2008, he got the lead role in the movie “Twilight”.
