Is the EU a happy place to live in? A survey to Think - Care - Share (inclusive, multicultural classroom)

"Think-Care-Share" techniques encourage students to think independently, show empathy, and collaborate with their peers. Here are some collaborative activities designed for elementary school kids using this approach:

1. Mindfulness Circle

- Think: Students think about something that makes them feel calm or happy (e.g., a kind action or a moment of peace).
- Care: They share this with a partner, listening carefully to each other's experiences.
- Share: The whole class sits in a circle and each student contributes their thoughts, creating a collaborative "mindful moment" or gratitude circle.
- We share photos of our Mindfulness circle to make a collage
- We craft problem-catchers to hide in the schools (problems come at any size, shape, color)

These activities not only foster collaboration but also help students practice empathy, active listening, and creative thinking.
