

Last night I had a vision
And heard a desperate whisper
I saw the Earth, her arms outstretched
Begging me to save her

Her skin was torn by drilling
To take but not give back
Her shores were full of rubbish
Her forests all burned black

Her polar caps were melting
Her temperature increasing
Chocking on pollution
The Earth was overheating

And then, the Earth began to shake
I think I heard her crying
She seemed to be so sad and sick
I knew that she was dying
(repeat)

'I gave you all my energy,
I gave you all the power
But now I'm lonely and betrayed
And weaker by the hour

The world I made was paradise
The perfect place to live
But you were blinded by your greed

You children are my final hope
Don't leave me all alone
But sing in voices loud and clear
THIS PLANET IS OUR HOME'

And when the children heard this
Into the streets they ran
They joined with one another
And came up with a plan!
(repeat)

Energy, energy, energy!
It's what we all are looking for
Energy, energy, energy!
We should use much less, not more!

We should start recycling
An easy thing to do
This world is home to everyone
And we're just passing through

Recycle all your paper
To help us save the trees
Old magazines and newspapers
Anything you read

Our plastic bottles, glass, and cans
Can all be used again
Not buried in a landfill
To cause the Earth more pain

Recycle! Save the trees!
Recycle! Help us, please!
Help reduce pollution
Be part of the solution

Help save the trees and plants
Let's give our earth a chance
It's time to say 'enough'!
The Earth gives life to us!

No waste or oil to kill the seas
This is now our dream
The ocean is for life not death
Use energy that's green!

FINALE

The Sun, the wind, and water
It's time we learned their worth
They are the only friends we have
And they respect the Earth

The Sun, the wind, and water
It's time we learned their worth
They are our only allies
They'll help us save our Earth
