

On Christmas Eve, Australians attend Christmas mass while some children stay home waiting for Santa Claus.

On Christmas Day, they have turkey or ham and plum pudding.

On December 26, which is called Boxing Day, they leave a tip for the grocer, the postman and other people who helped them in the past year.