

The story

It was a winter night in Bingo Club and a company of girlfriends were having a great time, when they saw their friend Rita coming. They had had a fight with her because they had found out that Rita had been secretly communicating on the internet with a boy she didn't actually know . The reason why they had quarreled was that her friends had told her that what she was doing was wrong , as she didn't know the boy and , in addition to that, she insisted on giving him her phone number . she had distanced herself from her friends.

At that particular night , they had agreed to talk to her . However , they found out that Rita had already arranged an appointment with the boy . The girls got mad and began telling her the same things all over again . As a result , they got into a fight .Rita left the club only to return some time later crying for help . She in vain , tried to explain what happened but none of her friends paid much attention . The only thing she kept repeating was “I really need your help!!!. You were right from the beginning” .After saying that , she left. The girls worried , followed her outside the Club. To their surprise , they saw a middle aged man following Rita .when he saw them he changed direction and disappeared . Rita , bursting into tears ,explained messages with turned out to be a middle aged man . She continued by saying that she had expected to see a boy like the one in the pictures !!! . Not a grown man!. That was a reason for her fight with him. That was the reason for her fight with him.

Rita returned to her house and without informing her parents about what had happened decided to get some sleep in case it helped her clear her head . The following day , her best friend Zeta received some half-naked pictures of Rita !These had been published to many web pages on the internet and the facebook accounts of Ritas friends .What is more , Ritas parents saw the pictures too, to their disappointment she explained what had happened , so their parents went to the police to press charges against the to the unknown man .the police opened her personal account and found a message that said “Since you refused to talk to me, now all your friends will get know to your other self , too” After the police found the man it became clear that he had harassed other girls like Rita ,too.

Rita sank into depression and tried to commit suicide . However , now she is better , being helped by a psychologist . years later Rita tried to start her life from the beginning ,even though when other people saw her the first thing that came into their mind was that “unfortunate” event . Since then no other girl fell into the same trap of talking to strangers on the net ! This was a lesson learned well by all girls and boys .

When Rita grew up she decided to help children victimized in such manner !She kept informing children on how use the internet safely .She never forgot her “adventure” but kept smiling , although in her mind the fear and face of that man were always there, lurking in the shadows!