

Dear friends,

The school year is almost over here in Greece. We're already prepared some moment presentations with my friends for you but it wasn't possible to have a skype meeting with you. I've prepared the Gate of Kiev. Our teacher told us that you were preparing something about Greece. Our teachers thought this exchange of moments would help students "get out" of the borders of their own countries. We will send them to you some day.

The purpose of this letter is to tell you that I would very much like to meet you. I know that you are having a hard time.

No kid should experience war. Europe was always a safe place. I would like to tell you that it's important to close your eyes and keep dreaming. I would like to tell that. I'm thinking of you. In this way you are not alone. I must say that I also do this, when I'm anxious, I'm closing my mind and start dreaming of a place that is good for holidays. So you might want to come and live here or if you have money make a vacation and return to your home, if it is possible.

We love you!

Our teacher Mrs. Irini, Isakidou has been telling us about you since the school year began. She has developed an online friendship with your teacher, who has the same name. We've heard that you're around our age and that you attend online classes. We were also told that some of you are in another country now, ~~and~~ not in your homes in Kharkiv, and that you continue your education from there.

This situation must be quite an experience, making you reflect on life in ways many of us can't imagine. It surely makes you mature quickly, having to ~~stay~~ stay alert so often. I wish there was another way for you to ~~grow~~ grow up without the presence of war in your country.

War is a terrible thing for anyone to ~~edore~~ endure, but please stay strong.

The world can be harsh, so think of this time as preparation for life's challenges. After overcoming this, you will be ready to face anything. If you still have family with you, I hope you do, hold them close and cherish your time together. If you find yourself surrounded by fewer people, remember that you have just made new friends here.

You can reach out to us anytime. We're here to listen and support

you. I can share what life is like for us here in Greece. School can be tough, but it's a path to a better future. If you ever get the chance to visit, we would love to meet you in person.

Stay safe and keep in touch
