

HALLOWEEN

Halloween is a fun and spooky holiday celebrated on October 31st every year. It started many years ago in Ireland and Scotland. Long ago, people believed that on this night, the spirits of the dead could visit the world of the living. To keep safe, people wore costumes and made lanterns from turnips or pumpkins to scare the spirits away.

Today, Halloween is celebrated in many countries, especially in the United States, Canada, and the United Kingdom. Children dress up in costumes as ghosts, witches, superheroes, animals, or cartoon characters. In the evening, they go trick-or-treating they walk from house to house, knock on doors, and say Trick or treat!. Neighbours give them candies, chocolates, or small toys.

People love to decorate their homes for Halloween. They put pumpkins with scary faces, spider webs, bats, and skeletons in their gardens or windows. Some families play Halloween music or use orange and black lights to make their homes look spooky.

Many families and schools have Halloween parties. Children play games like apple bobbing, where they try to catch apples floating in water with their mouths. They also dance, watch Halloween movies, or tell funny and scary stories.

Adults sometimes wear costumes too and go to Halloween events or parades. Some people visit haunted houses made for fun, where actors pretend to be ghosts or monsters.
