

An All-Star from Sepolia

Once upon a time, there was a black boy from Sepolia who loved basketball. He had a large family with three brothers. But his parents were immigrants from Nigeria and they didn't have a lot of money so the boy was intimidated. He had no friends and the only person who spoke to him was his older brother.

He was a car washer, he sold CDs and in his free time he played basketball. One day, while he was playing basketball at his neighborhood court, a coach saw him. He was impressed by his abilities and he proposed him to join the Filathlitikos B.C.

He tried very hard so he was accepted to play for the men's team. He had many good performances and he attracted many NBA scouts. He was finally selected by the Milwaukee Bucks with the 15th pick of the 2013 NBA draft and he moved to the USA. He became a very talented player and he improved his game. Americans called him GREEK FREAK because of his height and his wingspan. He won many awards such as THE MOST IMPROVED PLAYER OF THE YEAR. He was also a candidate for the MVP award. Despite the difficulties he encountered, he managed to become a world class Basketball player due to his talent and his devotion to what he did.

However, money doesn't necessarily bring happiness. Our Basketball player became overwhelmed by money and wanted to have more and more. His life changed dramatically in a short period of time and he forgot his family and origins. He thought that drugs would make him an even better player.

Gradually, he became addicted to them and they didn't let him perform well in matches. His coach realized his drug addiction and a few months later GREEK FREAK lost his job.

He stayed for a while in the USA but finally he came back to Greece having lost all of his fortune. He returned to his old jobs and became a very poor man. From then on, nobody, not even his own family, knows about him.
