

Sophia Kouzouli

Education Advisor of ELT teachers

E-mail: sophiakouz@yahoo.com

Web site: <https://blogs.sch.gr/skouzouli/>

Sophia Kouzouli holds a B.A in English language and literature from the University of Athens and an MSc in English language teaching from the Hellenic Open University of Patras.

She has been working as Language teachers since 1991 and as a Primary and Secondary state school English teacher since 2003 and has. In addition, she has taught at the University of Patras, Departments of Museology and Tourism. She is currently an Education Advisor of Primary and Secondary Education ELT teachers of the prefecture of Eleia, the islands of Zakynthos, Cephalonia and Ithaca as well as the western part of the prefecture of Achaia.

She has attended Greek and international programs related to innovative methods of teaching, alternative methods of assessment, global education, universal design of learning, teaching English in early childhood education and care, differentiated teaching, multilingualism, pedagogical integration of ICT, special education, school psychology and management of education conducted by the Institute of Educational Policy, the University of Athens, the University of Macedonia, Lancaster University and others. She has participated in two research programs run by the University of Athens and one by the University of the Aegean.

She is a certified teacher trainer and has participated as a trainer and coordinator in seminars run by the IEP, the B Level ICT training, and the Greek National Support Organization of eTwinning. She has participated in numerous innovative European educational projects which have been awarded national and European awards by eTwinning, the European Commission, and the European Language Label 2018 by the State Scholarships Foundation (IKY). Some of the learning scenarios she has created have been published in the Teaching with Europeana site. She has published articles in Greek and European scientific journals and conventions.

She was an eTwinning ambassador from 2017-2022, has been a Scientix ambassador since 2022 and is currently a member of the Greek eTwinning National Support Organisation, She is a regular reviewer for Greek scientific journals.

